

Kuala Lumpur International Kalam Symposium (KLIKS 2016)

KUALA LUMPUR INTERNATIONAL KALAM SYMPOSIUM (KLIKS 2016)

KLIKS 2016 sought to bring together Kalam specialists among scholars, academics and researchers for the transdisciplinary engagement in an attempt to not only revitalize the analytical and systematic understanding of the religion of Islam in dealing with contemporary knowledge, challenges and needs but also to provide a critical response to the present day knowledge, challenges and needs from the Islamic theological, spiritual and intellectual perspectives.

KLIKS 2016 also invited scholars, academics and researchers in other fields of knowledge who were interested to broaden their horizons of research to incorporate the Kalam analytical tools and resources, its systematic framework and methodology, and also its premises and findings in their existing scholarly research activities.

KLIKS 2016 achieved its aim to create a platform for collaborative spirit and epistemological humility in which scholars, academics and researchers committed to the tradition of Kalam could work together in the true transdisciplinary approach which may integrate inter-disciplinary, cross-disciplinary, intra-disciplinary, multi-disciplinary approaches along the way in spite of their own disciplinary specialties and expertise. Alhamdulillah.
